Fluence Automation has a long history of providing innovative technologies to the mail distribution, logistics, and parcel automation markets.

For more than 30 years, Fluence has earned a strong position in the commercial sorting segment and delivered numerous solutions for various entities, including the USPS, the US government, other national posts, mailing service providers (MSPs), 3PLs, and many Fortune 500 companies in various industries.

Over the last several years, Fluence has continued to expand its footprint outside of mail processing by leveraging core imaging, linerless, and high-speed automation technologies to address challenges in parcels automation. Fluence parcels systems offer capabilities for high-performance imaging with optical character recognition (OCR), labelling, conveying and sorting, backed by one of the best service teams in the industry.

At Fluence, we look forward to being a key part of the mail and parcels automation community in the years to come by serving our long-term customers in the best manner possible, while growing with new customers.
