

» IS YOUR BUSINESS
READY TO EXPLORE
ECOMMERCE
SAME-DAY DELIVERY?

Market trends have trained the e-commerce end consumer to expect faster delivery options with little to no increased cost. A true online retailer differentiates from competitors by offering this low-cost same-day delivery. The trick is finding the right transportation partner to navigate final mile with both consistent service and a budget friendly price point.

This is where TForce Logistics provides the right mix of network scope, density, financial stability, and dedicated resources so that shippers can manage supply chain needs ranging from supplier shipments into warehouses, to replenishment of inventories, strategically staging products close to end-users, and consistent, on-time final mile delivery. It's a package of services that can be designed and deployed to meet the unique needs of virtually any industrial or consumer product-based business.

To support e-commerce business, the newly designed tforcelogistics.com website supports TForce Logistics' mission to deliver strategic advantage and value to customer supply chains as an innovative logistics partner through flexible, integrated final mile services.

This also means an official rebrand from TForce Final Mile US and Canada into a unified TForce Logistics. TForce Logistics' network is purpose-designed for the demands of final mile, e-commerce-generated shipping and covers all the major metropolitan communities in the US and in Canada.

TForce Logistics creates a better client experience by sending proactive communications including text notifications to the end customer, providing a sense of control and personalization for each delivery. Feedback from the delivery process is shared with the client purchasing delivery for an enhanced post-purchase experience. This seamless delivery experience coupled with increased speed improves client to customer conversion rates.

With a vision to lead final mile with diversity in work, people, customers, and solutions in the spirit of growing and winning together, TForce Logistics is a package of services that can be designed and deployed to meet the unique needs of virtually any industrial or consumer product-based business.

CONTACT INFO:

COMPANY:
TForce Logistics

WEBSITE:
www.tforcelogistics.com

EMAIL:
Sales@Tforcelogistics.com

THE 2020-21

H
O
T

COMPANIES